Preface

We are pleased to present this volume which contains the papers accepted for presentation at COLIEE 2025, which is the milestone twelfth Competition on Legal Information Extraction and Entailment (COLIEE 2025). As in previous years when the International Conference on Artificial Intelligence (ICAIL) is held, we are again joining the ICAIL 2025 conference as a companion workshop, to be held at Northwestern University in Chicago, from June 16 to 20, 2025.

As in recent COLIEE summaries, what began as only a handful of competitors from Japan and Canada, COLIEE has spread world wide. This year the COLIEE 2025 competition attracted 24 teams from 13 different countries, demonstrating the growing global interest in legal AI research. For the first two tasks on case law, eight teams submitted a total of 21 runs for Task 1, and six teams submitted a total of 18 runs for Task 2. For the statute law tasks, eight teams submitted a total of 22 runs for Task 3, and ten teams submitted a total of 29 runs for Task 4. For the pilot task on Tort law four teams submitted a total of 10 runs.

In addition to this year's task participants, the COLIEE organizing team has continued to extend and maintain the history of data used in the COLIEE competition, and respond to a growing number of requests to share that data, all confirmed for use in research projects around the world. We now have a dedicated team member to moderate access to these data sets (Calum Kwan), which are curated at a facility at the National Institute of Informatics in Tokyo. As originally intended, we have not only managed to grow and sustain the COLIEE competition but now provide access to one of the world's most valued fully annotated legal data corpora.

The COLIEE organizers would like to acknowledge the continued support of people and organizations around the planet, including Colin Lachance from Compass Law/Vlex, Juliano Rabelo from Jurisage, both in Canada, and to Young Yik Rhim of Intellicon in Seoul, who has been our advocate since the beginning of COLIEE.

In addition, we acknowledge our combined Japanese team, founder Ken Satoh (NII), Yoshinobu Kano (Shizuoka University), Masaharu Yoshioka (Hokkaido University), Hiroaki Yamada (Institute of Science Tokyo, Tokyo), and our Canadian team of Mi-Young Kim, Calum Kwan, and Randy Goebel (University of Alberta). These people have tirelessly contributed in such a collegial manner, to grow and sustain the COLIEE competition for twelve years.
